

Shared Values

The Ohio State University's Shared Values serve as the foundation of all activities in the College of Pharmacy. These guiding principles ground the contributions of all faculty, staff and trainees in service of our mission and vision. We live out these values by:

Bringing a small college feel to a large university by prioritizing both individual people and collective community.

Honoring the technical expertise and lived experiences of every faculty, staff, trainee and student who comprise our community.

Demonstrating respect, collegiality, and kindness through both words and actions.

Valuing a diversity of input and ideas from stakeholders to critically examine a variety of possibilities when making decisions.

Recognizing that curiosity, collaboration, integrity, and authenticity are vital to pursuing advances in knowledge and creativity.

Seeking common ground and increased understanding of one another's perspectives especially when we may have differing viewpoints.
